SUNDAY WILL BE DRY.

Supt. Byrnes Orders Rigid Enforcement of the Excise Law.

Indications That the Police Shake-Up Has Not Culminated.

Capt. McAvoy the First Applicant for the Vacant Inspectorship.

Signs all point to a dry Sunday to-morrow in more than one way. Local Forecaster Dunn will attend to it so far as the weather is concerned, and it is believed that Superin-tendent of Police Byrnes, although he is noncommittal on the subject, will cause a

The impression prevatled at Police Headquarters this morning that to-morrow's dry spell will exceed even that of Easter Sunday, and that the big shake-up of police captains last Tuesday will be responsible for the in-crease in parched throats and deserted drink-

Supt. Byrnes himself had nothing to say on the subject to-day further than that he was in office to see that the laws were obforced, and that he would do his duty to the utmost extent of his ability. It is believed, however, that to-night another order similar to that of a week ago will be sent to all cap-tains to instruct their night patrol to see that every wrinking place in this city is closed promptly at midnight and kept closed until 5 o'clock Monday morning.

This subject was dwelt on at length in Supt. Byrnes's talk to the captains at Head-quarters yesterday. The recent shake-up, he said, was not meant to degrade them, but to enable them to enforce the laws more effectsi-ally. One thing, he said, was imperative the force must be made to work with more earnestness and much harder than ever be-fore to prevent law-breaking and to cause the arrest of law-breakers.

It was also intimated that the remanding of ward detectives to patrol duty had grown out of their failure to properly sesist the Captains in the work of preventing Sunday itquor selling.

No additional applications for retirement were received at Headquarters from members of the Department this morning, but it is expected that more will be forthcoming early next week. This expectation is sus-tained by the belief that the end of the shake-up is not yet.
